

March 2013 Admin Report

February has been insane. We completed the Forestry grant reports and had to bill the remaining 40 cents of the grant before it could be closed. Thank goodness that grant is over. We have three new applications for the Whitetail Divide Project and I have been working with Andy Miller with DNRC. He will be on site and putting together contracts and prescribed thinning.

There has been some request regarding the conservation district sponsoring a grant for a video crew to come to Montana and Showcase some of the different programs, grazing, SGI, Range Days. There may be so alternative options that are more feasible that we could use to promote good practices in eastern Montana.

Tree sales have picked up and inventory is getting limited on some species. We will take orders until mid April.

Board binders are finally completed. The treasure report is up to date as of February 28th. I am working on a little different format for the treasure report that will show you what money is coming in to the accounts on a single page, in progress.

The newsletter is a work in progress; I do have space for more articles if anyone has any ideas.

I have been visitn with Scott Kaiser trying to set a date for the 310 workshop. He said April, I said the middle and we came up with the 18th, however the CBMPA has their meeting that day and has some speakers they are bringing in so we are going to have to try for a different day that week, or shoot for June. May is not a possibility.
